
Cephalon Charitable Donation Program

Cephalon contracts with select healthcare professionals to conduct speaker programs that educate their peers about the benefits, risks and appropriate uses of our products, as well as the latest scientific advances in related therapeutic areas.

Some of our speakers have requested to have their speaker fees donated directly to a charity for philanthropic purposes or to comply with institutional or other requirements. Therefore, Cephalon has established the Speaker Fee Charitable Donation Program to allow healthcare professionals to contribute their compensation from an approved Speaker Program to a charity that meets certain criteria.

The healthcare professionals listed below have chosen to participate in this program.
